Virtual Water Resources Information Center Fact Sheet

The Colorado Water Conservation Board's (CWCB's) online Water Resource Information Center (WRIC) is now powered by Laserfiche's WebLink.

Virtual WRIC

In conjunction with the Division of Water Resources, the CWCB has recently led the Department of Natural Resources in migrating to a new centralized electronic document archival, retrieval and management system called Laserfiche. The web interface to Laserfiche is called WebLink.

Documents have been categorized into 13 different areas of interest, which are available through the "Public Records" pages within each major section of the CWCB website. Descriptions of the templates/document classes, as well the document types, are available to help facilitate searching for information.

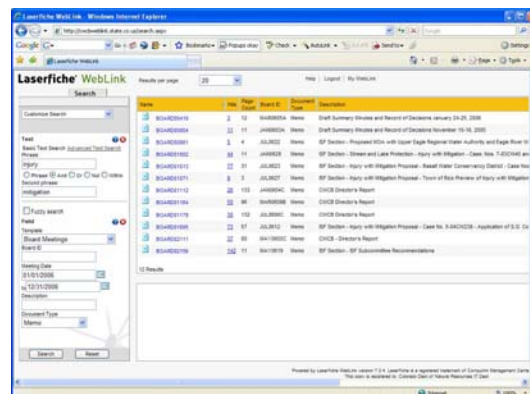

What's Available

- Floodplain Maps & Reports
- Board Memos & Minutes
- Press Releases
- Legislative Information
- Feasibility Studies
- Financial Statements
- Stream & Lake Protection Final Decrees
- Reports & Studies
- Contracts
- Publications

And Much More!

Expanded Search Capabilities

WebLink provides expanded search functionality, including full-text search. All of CWCB's documents have been run through an "optical character recognition (OCR)" process, which allows the text of documents to be searched by key words and/or phrases. The Field search allows searching by indexed data specific to each template/document class.
