

Help Guide the South Platte's Future:
Input and Information Sessions
for the South Platte Basin Implementation Plan (Supporting Colorado's Water Plan)

The State of Colorado, through the Colorado Water Conservation Board (CWCB) is starting the process to develop Colorado's Water Plan using "grassroots" input from all interested parties throughout the State. Each of our State's major river basins have "Basin Roundtables" with representatives of diverse water interests. These "roundtables" are starting to develop "Basin Implementation Plans" that will inform and guide the plan for all of Colorado.

Be part of this exciting process to help guide these plans as they get underway! Come to the meetings shown below, learn about the processes, ongoing input opportunities and let us know what is important to you!
