Introduction

The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company (FPCC), located in Logan County, Colorado operates the Farmers Pawnee Canal for the benefit of the shareholders by providing direct flow irrigation water. The canal diverts from the South Platte River, approximately 2.73 miles south west of the Town of Merino (See Location Map Figure 1). Water deliveries are made through the Company's canal to a 10,000-acre service area. The flooding, which occurred in September of 2014, damaged the FPCC diversion. The structure was severely undermined.

Recent attempts to repair the undermined structures with additional steel sheet piling and concrete have not been successful with more undermining and severe leakage under the structures occurring on March 13, 2014.

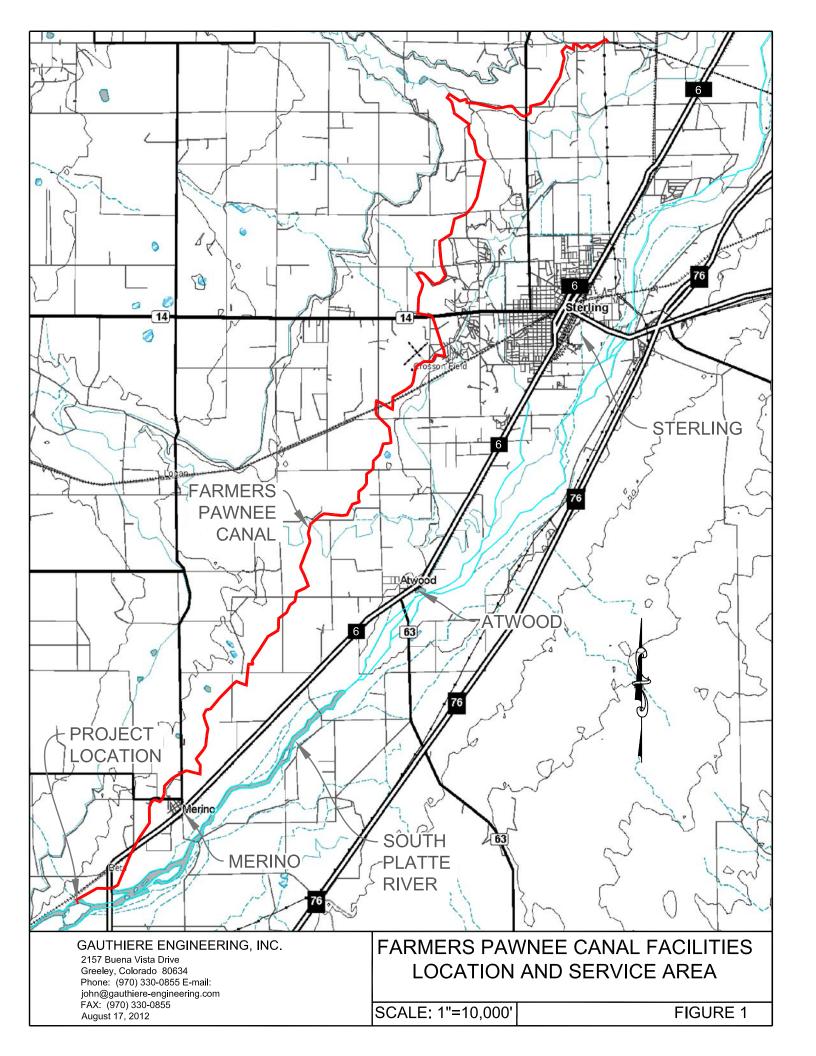

In addition to the expenses and difficulties in maintaining a structure, which is nearing the end of its useful life, the existing design of the diversion dam promotes the accumulation of sand on the upstream side of the dam. This buildup of sand causes diversion problems and maintenance problems within the canal system. Replacement of the existing diversion dam provides the opportunity to utilize an improved design which would greatly alleviate the sand accumulation problem.

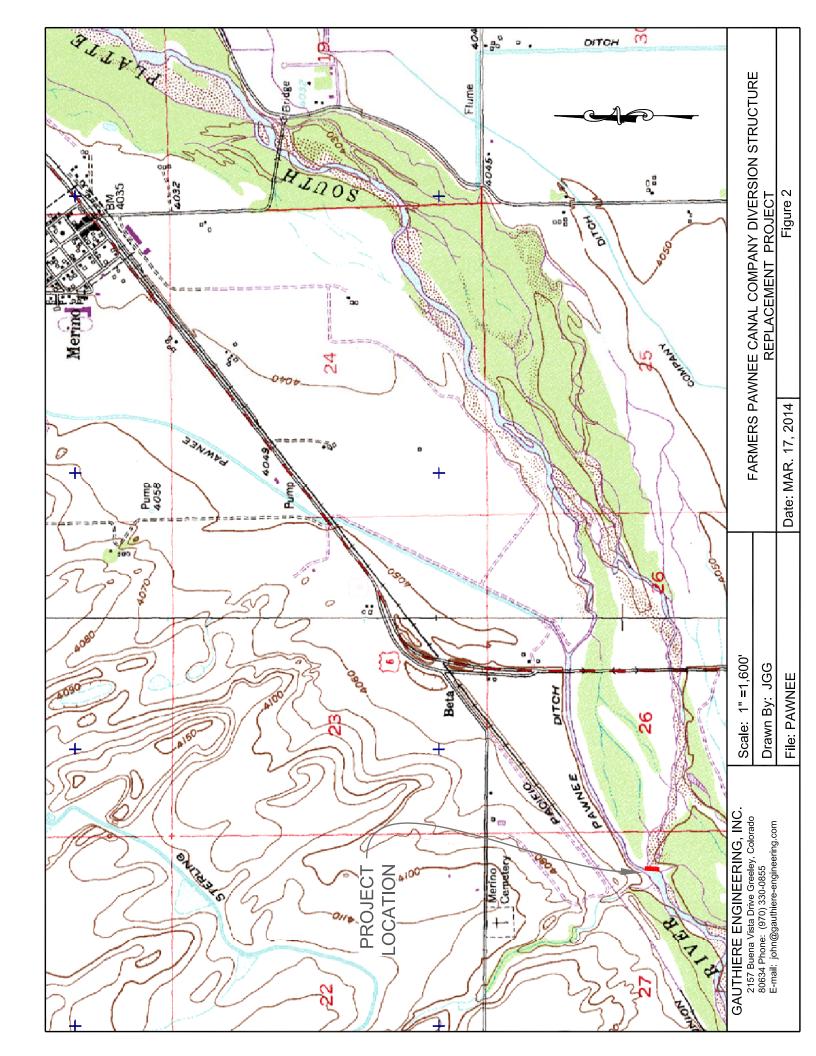

The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company wants to completely rebuild the diversion dam and canal headgate prior to the 2015 irrigation season. During the March 15, 2014 Annual Stockholders Meeting the stockholders attending the meeting (417 shares represented) voted unanimously to proceed with the project.

Project Sponsor

The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company is a mutual ditch company and a non-profit corporation registered in the State of Colorado. The Farmers Canal Company incorporated on December 7, 1898. There are 102 shareholders and 500 shares of stock. (See Stockholders list - Appendix F.) The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company has the power to set annual assessments to be paid by the shareholders, the power to cut off water deliveries to shareholders that fail to pay their assessments, and the power to offer stock for sale to pay back assessments. The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company articles of incorporation and by-laws are included in Appendix A.

The Company's diversion dam and canal headgate facilities are located just south west of the Town of Merino on the north side of the South Platte River (see Project Location Map Figure 2). The facilities to be replaced include a rollover type diversion dam and headgate on the South Platte River located near the west quarter-section corner of Section 27, Township 6 North, rang 54 West of the Sixth Principal Meridian, Logan County, Colorado (See Photographs of Existing Structures below:

Project Service Area and Facilities

The Company service area is comprised of approximately 10,000 acres. The Company's peak diversions from the South Platte River are normally between 180 to 220 cubic feet per second from the South Platte River¹ but could be higher. Water diversion rights owned by the company total 380.4 cubic feet per second. The diversion of water is accomplished with a concrete diversion dam across the South Platte and a canal headgate structure. The diversion dam is approximately 220 feet long and the headgate structure is approximately 40 feet long (See Figure 3 Plan View of Existing Structure). The existing diversion structures were originally built in 1926. In 1998, various repairs and improvements and repairs were made including the addition of sheet piling on the upstream and downstream sides of the dam driven 10 to 14 feet deep along with concrete pile caps, a toe wall and patching. The diverted water is delivered to the stockholders through approximately 27.5 miles of canal. The water is typically used to irrigate corn, alfalfa, beans and sugar beets and wheat.

Hydrology and Water Rights

A review of the HydroBase files for the Pawnee Canal (Structure ID Number 533) indicates that the water rights associated with this structure are as shown in Table 1 below:

Table 1

(See Appendix B for the Structure Summary Report for a listing of all water rights data). The farmers Pawnee Canal Company Shareholders also have numerous other decrees relating to recharge, augmentation and storage water in Prewitt Reservoir.

The annual average diversion for the Farmers Pawnee Canal Company amounts to 27,956 acre-feet per year. This average is based on State of Colorado's HydroBase data for the years 1950 through 2012 (See Appendix B)

FARMERS PAWNEE CANAL CO. PLATTE RIVER DIVERSION DAM PROJECT EXISTING STRUCTURE

SCALE: 1"=40'

Considering the Company's available diversion rights, hydraulic design of the new structure will be based on a diversion capacity of not less than 380.4 cubic feet per second.

Project Description and Alternatives

The purpose of this project is to provide a means for the Farmers Pawnee Canal Company to continue providing irrigation water to shareholders while minimizing the occurrence of future failures of their diversion structure. Four alternatives were considered:

- 1. The no-action alternative.
- 2. Alternate 2 involves the reconstruction of the river diversion dam using 220 feet of concrete weir with board slots. The canal headgate would be reconstructed with a new concrete structure and 30 feet of 5-foot high bladder gate. The estimated cost of this alternative is $1,852,600.
- 3. Alternate 3 involves the reconstruction of the river diversion dam using 100 feet of 7-foot high pneumatically actuated bladder gate and 118 feet of concrete weir. The pneumatically actuated gate would be installed on a monolithic reinforced concrete slab, which is founded on piling with seepage cutoff provided by steel sheet piling. The canal headgate would be reconstructed with a new concrete structure and 30 feet of 5-foot high pneumatically actuated bladder gate. The estimated cost of this alternative is $2,046,696.

Alternative No. 1 was considered unacceptable because the existing diversion dam is at the end of its useful life and is no longer dependable nor is it reliably repairable. The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company will be unable to fully divert water into the FPCC canal of the diversion dam is not replaced. This would amount to a loss of approximately 27,956 acre-feet of irrigation water per year, resulting in a major loss of crops under the FPCC system. The per acre value of the farm ground in the FPCC system could drop significantly. This alternative is not acceptable to The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company.

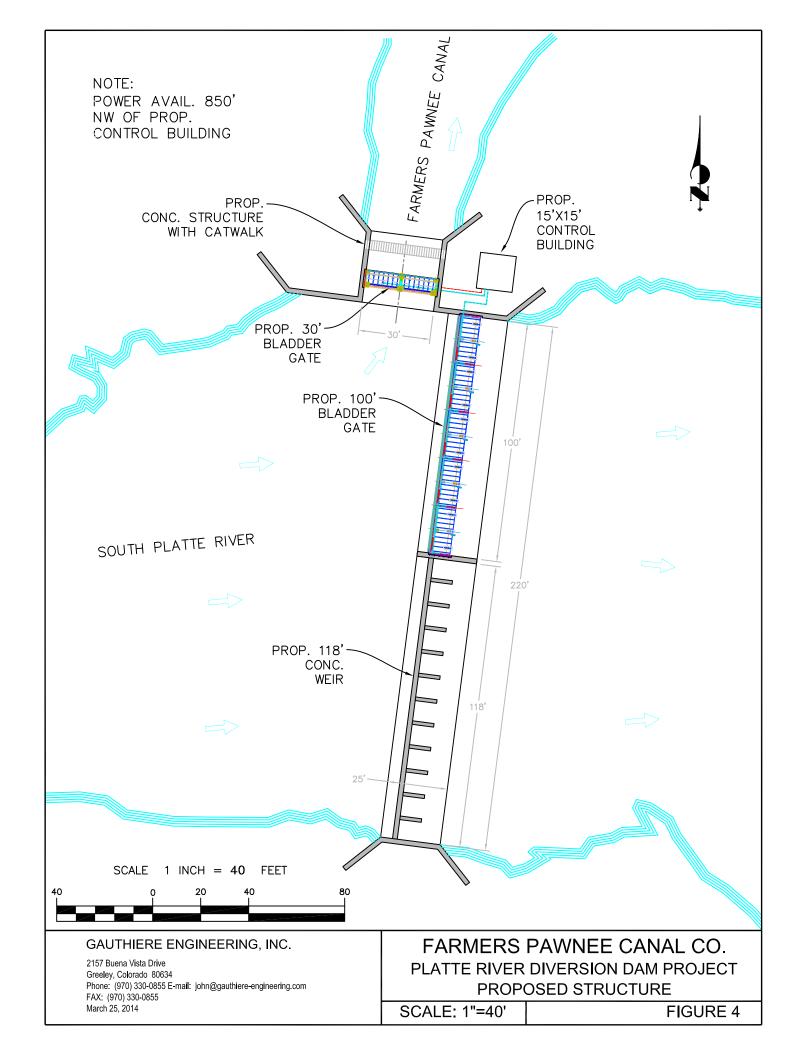

Alternative No. 2 was ruled out because it does not provide the ease, efficiency and safety of operation that Alternate 3 does. This alternative does nothing to address the large accumulation of sand upstream of the dam and associated canal maintenance issues.

Alternative No. 3 was selected, since it is considered to be the most reliable approach to efficient and safe diversion of water. An additional feature of this alternate is improved fish passage. The selected alternative involves construction of 218 feet of diversion dam composed of 100 feet of 7-foot high pneumatically actuated bladder gate and 118 feet of concrete weir. This combination weir structure will be installed on a monolithic steel reinforced concrete slab in the riverbed and have wing walls of steel reinforced concrete. Stability will be provided by a pile foundation and steel sheet piling will provide seepage cutoff. The canal headgate would be replaced with a new concrete structure and 30 feet of 5-foot high pneumatically actuated bladder gate. A conceptual plan is shown on Figure 4. The estimated cost of the completed project is $2,046,696. The cost breakdown is summarized in Table 2 below:

Permitting

All easements and rights of way have been arranged for.

The Company expects to be exempt from 404 permitting by Statutory Exemption, 33 CFR Section 323.4 (a) 3.

Institutional Considerations

The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company needs authorization to borrow 90 percent of the total estimated project cost of $2,046,696 or $1,842,026 from the Colorado Water Conservation Board Construction Fund. The loan, if approved, from the CWCB will be contingent upon the successful negotiation of a contract between the CWCB and the FPCC. The remaining 10% of the project cost will be funded through assessment of the Stockholders. Bidding and agreements with contractors will be finalized upon authorization of the CWCB Loan.

Financial Analysis

The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company is requesting a 30-year loan from the CWCB. The standard agricultural lending rate would b 1.75% resulting in annual payments of $79,446. To this would be added $7,945 per year for the first 10 years to fund the emergency reserve account, for a total annual cost of $87,391. Table 3 is a summary of the financial aspects of the project. Annual assessments will increase from $275 per share, up to $450 per share with a loan of $1,842,026. This represents an annual assessment increase of $175, or $3.13 per acre-foot, based on average annual diversion of 27,956 acre-feet.

All other funding for the project will be provided by FPCC. Operating and maintenance costs are expected to decrease with the new diversion structure, and can be accommodated by the FPCC's budget.

Credit Worthiness

The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company has recently paid off a CWCB Construction Fund Loan in 2008 and is in the process of paying for a CWCB Loan (Loan Contract No. C150272) authorized in 2011 for $255,530 principal amount. Annual loan payments for C150272 are $12,208.62 and FPCC has incorporated this expense in their budget.

Table 4 shows the Financial Ratios for the Farmers Pawnee Canal Company and indicates average to strong ability to repay with the project in place.

Alternative Financing Considerations

No alternative financing options have been identified as of the date of this study.

Collateral

The FPCC can offer the following collateral for the CWCB loan.

- 1. The FPCC can offer as collateral, the project itself, if approved by a vote of the shareholders.
- 2. The FPCC can offer as collateral, a pledge of assessment revenues.

Economic Analysis

Although shareholders in FPCC will be impacted with increased assessments for construction and loan repayment, the project will have a long-term positive economic impact by assuring continued diversions into FMRIC system.

If the diversion is not replaced with a dependable alternative a critical component to the value of nearly 10,000 acres will be lost.

Social and Physical Impacts

The project will have no significant social impacts.

Although shareholder in the FPCC will be impacted with increased assessments for construction and loan repayment, the project will have a long-term positive economic impact by assuring continued diversion into the Pawnee Canal.

The project will have no significant physical impacts once construction is complete. The new diversion structures will occupy the same area as the existing structures.

Conclusions

- The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company is an incorporated entity in the State of Colorado with the ability to enter into a contract with the CWCB for the purpose of obtaining a Construction Fund loan.
- 2. Rights-of Way easements are adequate for the construction of this project.

- 3. The project would provide for the continued delivery of irrigation water to share holders.
- 4. The total estimated cost of the project is $2,046,696 and this will be funded, in part, by in-house financing. The Farmers Pawnee Canal Company is applying for a $1,842,026 loan from the CWCB Construction Fund to cover 90% of the project cost.
- 5. The project is technically and financially feasible.

The selected alternative is technically and financially feasible. There are no known issues that would prevent the Farmers Pawnee Canal Company from successfully completing this project.
