Description: WPG - Environmental Flows Cohort Pilot Training Program
The River Network will pilot an "environmental flows cohort" training program to provide river management planning practitioners with the skills, peer and technical support, resources, and understanding of local stakeholder processes to "increase the number of rivers that have locally driven environmental flow recommendations." Specifically, River Network will design curriculum, an application process, a program for three in-person training sessions, and associated homework, and then execute the program's first year.
As a part of this agreement, please refer to Exhibit A (dated 12/18/23) for a complete Statement of Work and Budget.
