Tim,

Only a brief update of the liner repair and recertification efforts from last week; Ames continues to push DCF, covering the 9750'-9850' elevations. The additional SLF density tests were completed on Friday and will be provided to the Division today or early tomorrow. Additionally, the SLF and Geomembrane Record of Construction Report for the 9750-9900' elevations is under final review and should be submitted today as well.

Please let me know if you have any questions

Thank you,

Justin Bills
