Current Disturbances to affected land

Bench mining is currently in progress. The target deposits are being adjoined through this process. No backfilling or grading. All excess spoil and waste are being utilized. No observable impacts to fish and wildlife have been known. No standing water or groundwater has been encountered, during mining.

No out of boundary violations or impacts are noted. Haul and access roads are being properly maintained, to include dust and erosion mitigation. Sediment embankments are continual monitored and maintained. All signs and markers are visible and undisturbed. An active stormwater management plan (SWMP) is current and within compliance, under active permit #COG502050.

Under recommendations from site inspection on 02/16/17, by DRMS, a topsoil-native material Stockpile is being salvaged/saved for reclamation proceedings, in the future. It is located on the attached map.

Required Monitoring information

All permits, inspections, and site specific reviews are within compliance.

Reclamation

All mining being conducted is within plans for reclamation. Topsoil is being salvaged for future reclamation activity. The existing processes continue to be for current mining activities. Sediment traps and road maintenance are constantly monitored. Bench Mining continues according to the approved mining plan.
