

Area of FMIC Ditch access road. The FMIC Ditch parallels the access road and is to the far side of access road.

Erosion gully from steep slope heading towards the FMIC Ditch access road.

A photograph of a desert landscape. In the foreground, there is a steep, eroded bank of light-colored soil with some sparse green and yellow vegetation. A red arrow points from a text box to a specific spot on this eroded bank. To the right, a man with white hair, wearing a blue shirt and dark pants, stands in a field of tall, dry grass, looking towards the landscape. In the background, there is a valley with some buildings and a large, rugged mountain range under a clear blue sky.

This shows the top of the erosion gully shown in picture no. 5049. The FMIC access road is to the immediate right of the FMIC Manager standing in the photo, and the FMIC Ditch is then to right of the access road.

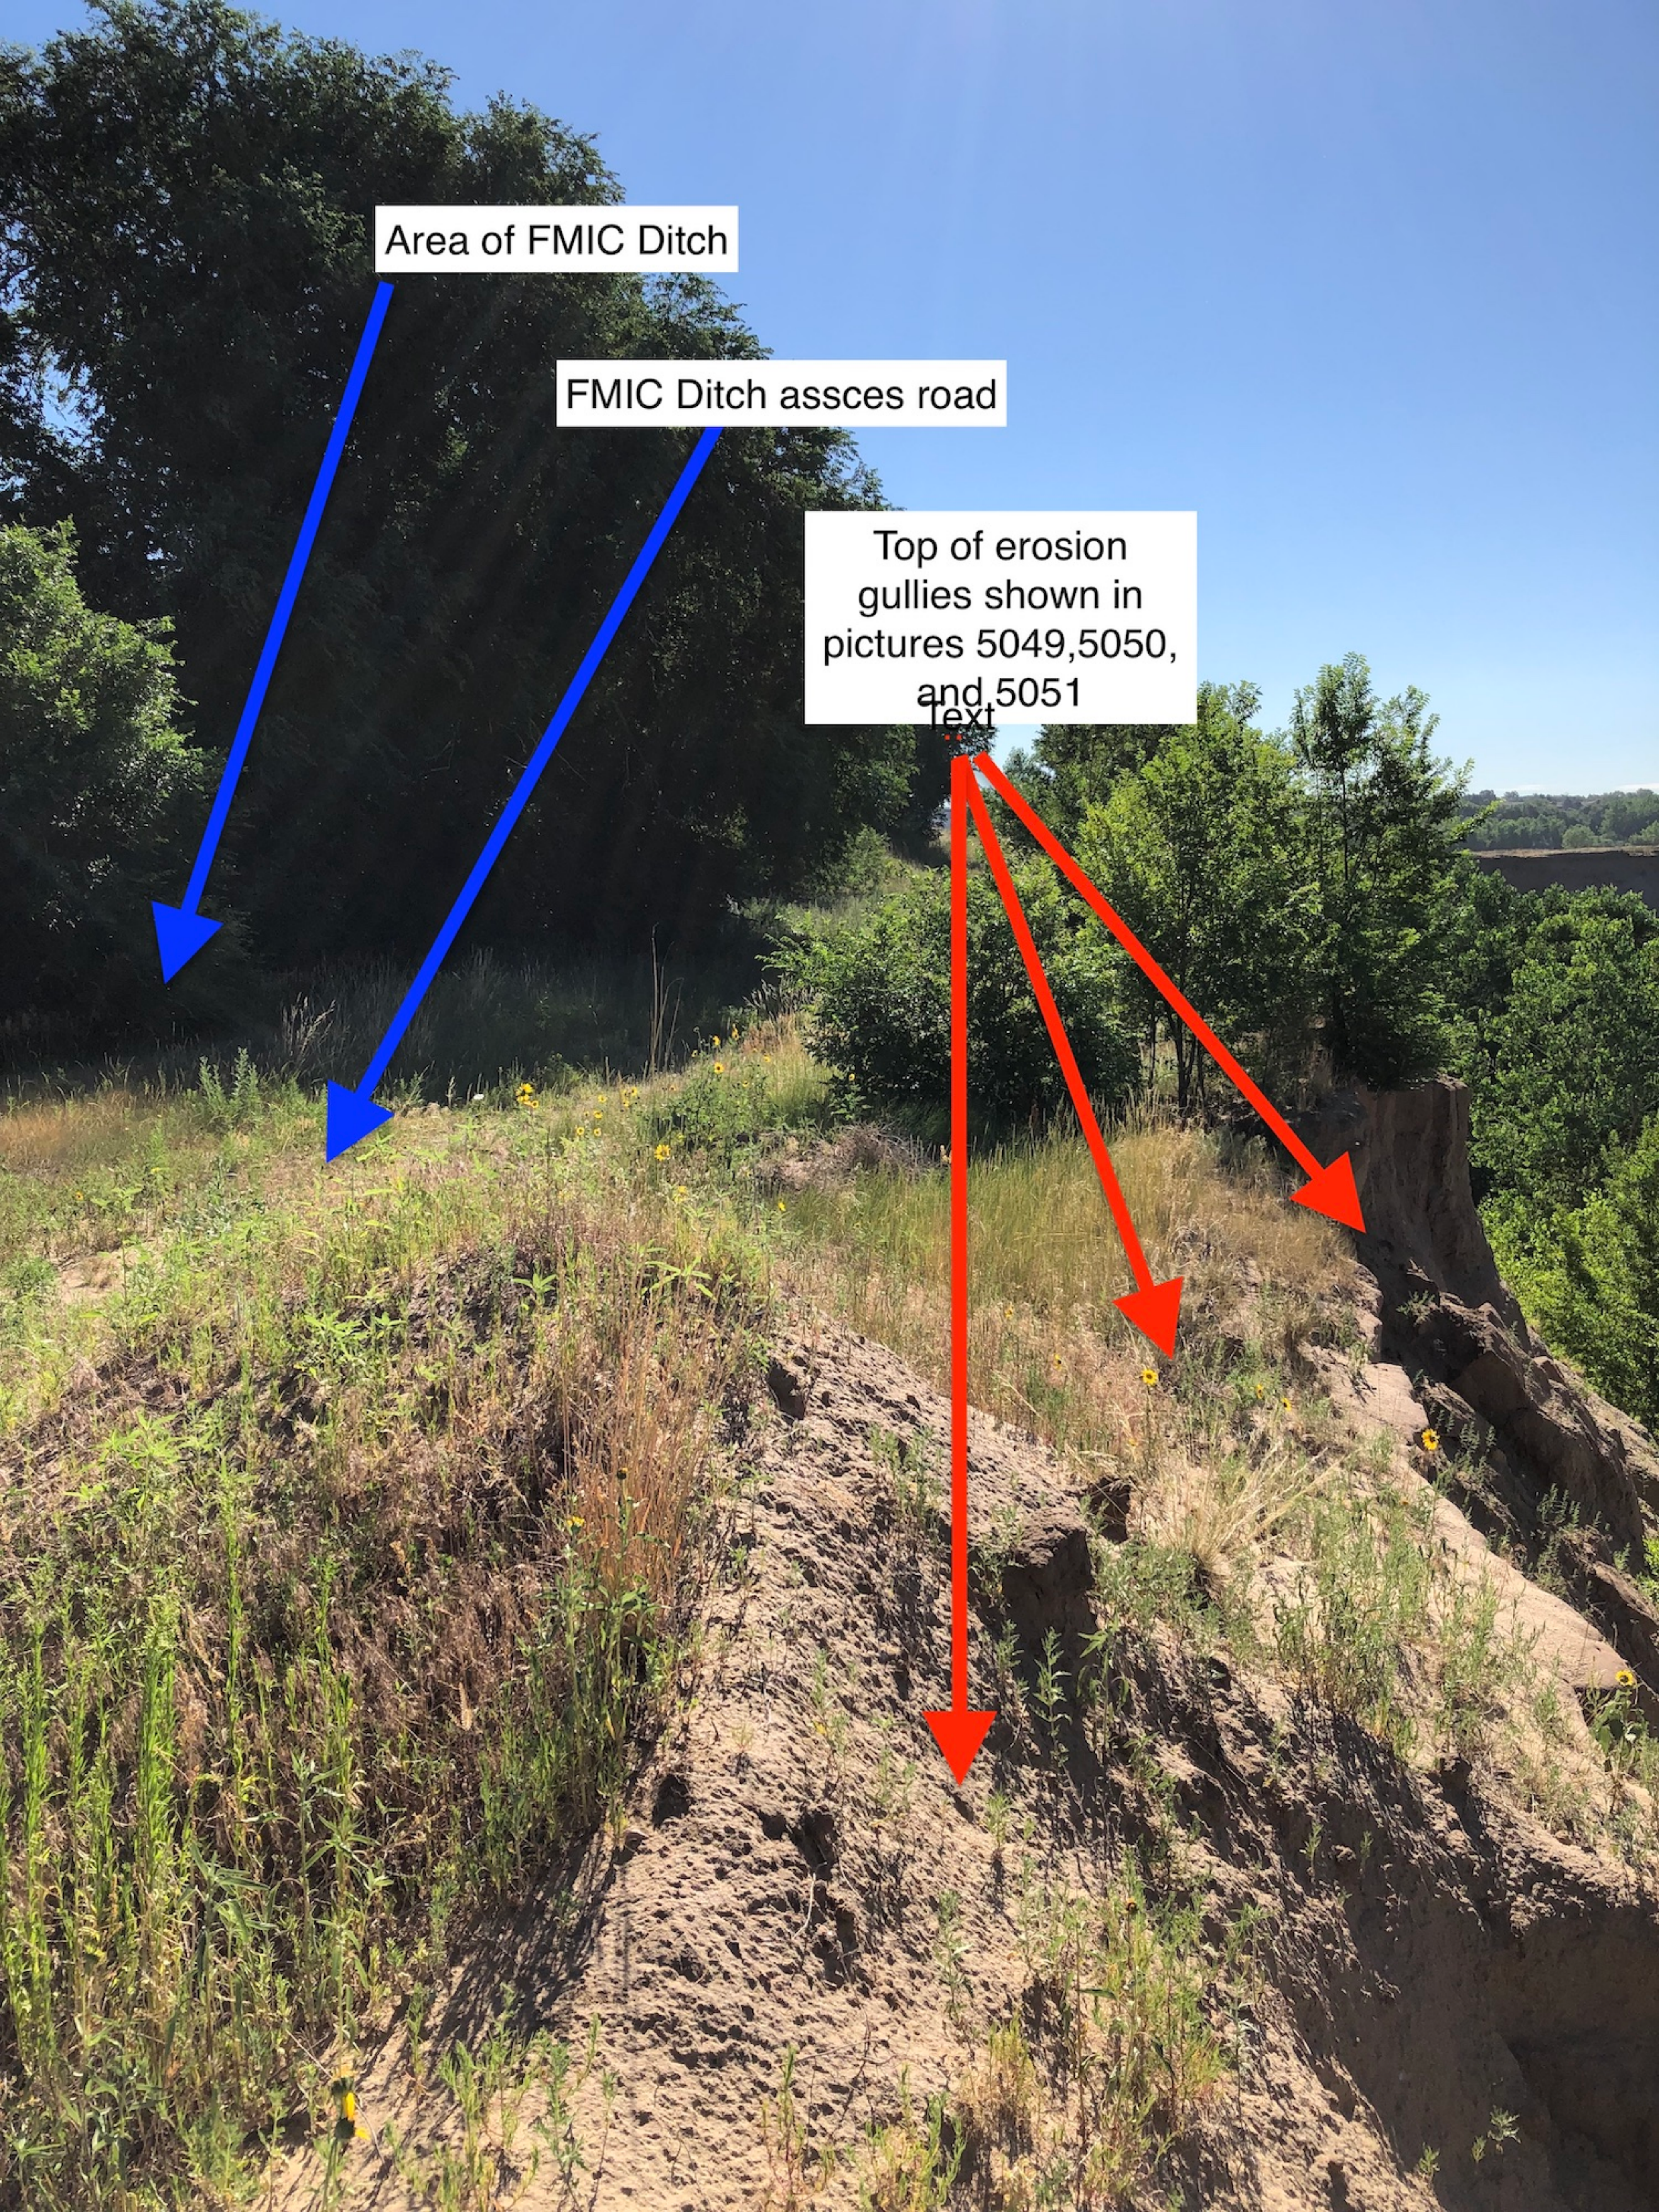

This pictures is looking straight down from the top of the errosion gully shown in pictures 5049 and 5050. The FMIC access road is directly behind.

Area of FMIC Ditch

FMIC Ditch crosses road

Top of erosion gullies shown in pictures 5049,5050, and 5051

Picture from the top of the erosion gullies with the FMIC access road and ditch behind

Likely exposed groundwater in permit area.

Likely exposed groundwater in permit area.

Erosion bank viewed from bottom at a distance.