Lucas,

As per our conversation of January 7, I am withdrawing my temporary cessation #2 and now put the Incas Mine into final reclamation.

I understand that I have 5 years to complete the reclamation and that the permit can be reinstated if I choose to restart mining activity during this period. I also understand that the permit would require updates should this happen. Per your description of the remaining reclamation required I understand that:

The iron mining equipment can be buried onsite in the existing cut.

The processing building is a permanent structure and will remain.

Any debris will need to be removed.

Seeding of the closed portals and cuts will be required.

I look forward to receiving from you the precise language of the reclamation required.

Sincerely,

Michael McClure
