Reclamation Plan

The mine boundary includes bedrock outcrops, rocky terrain and isolated areas of rangeland. Areas vegetated prior to mining will be reclaimed to rangeland. Bedrock outcrop areas will not be vegetated but will remain as bedrock surface benches.

Because the mine is primarily bedrock outcrops, only those areas supporting vegetation with overburden or plant support material prior to mining will be reclaimed as rangeland. Whenever possible, final grade will blend with surrounding topography. Highwall benches will be constructed concurrently with mining. Reclamation will be performed in accordance with the approved 1997 Fremont Soil Conservation District recommendation. The salvaged sediment or plant growth material will be stockpiled for use in final reclamation when it will be mixed with rock fines, placed on the exposed surface to an average depth of seven inches. The following seed mix will be broadcast and mulched with clean straw using 4,000 lbs/acre. Revegetation will occur concurrently with mining when necessary.

Topsoil stockpiles are located in the amended area (7.36 acres), along the south boundary of the permit area. Stockpiles will be compacted and revegetated with seed mix in order to minimize effects of erosion. During reclamation, the topsoil will be distributed across the dimensional stone staging area and production area, approximately 10 acres.

Table 1: Reclamation Seed Mix recommended by US Soil Conservation Service

Grass Species	Broadcast Rate (lbs pls/ac)
Blue grama	2.4
Sideoats grama	4.5
Western wheatgrass	8.0
Indian ricegrass	2.5

Any temporary mining structures such as stormwater BMPs or perimeter safety berms will be removed during reclamation. The interior haul road will not be reclaimed.

The Fremont County Weed Control Officer contacted a weed inspection on November 17, 2011. The inspection report and recommended weed management plan is provided herein.
