

Photo 3: Looking south up the main drainage. Centerline of drainage is blue line. Alternating slight depressions and rises create variable flow.

Photo 4: At the outlet of the main drainage. This will be monitored closely; if gully formation begins then corrective action will be taken. This is after 6 months of winter rains and snowmelts.