I called and spoke with Dustin Malloy with Todd Creek Village Metro District. They were inspecting their wells in the area and found that the detention basin that Aggregate Industries WCR Inc uses had failed today and flooded the surrounding area. The basin was subsequently repaired today. No water from the spill made it to the South Platte River. The basins are used to settle out TSS from dewatering and stormwater before it is discharged into the South Platte River. The discharge permit number for the facility is COG502182. I left a message with Wyatt Webster, the Environment and Land Manager with Aggregate Industries WCR Inc, to call me back so I can collect more information. I plan to advise them to turn in a 5 day spill report.

The basin is circled on the map below:

Dustin sent me photos of the spill:
