Hi Tom,

I received your documents in response to my incompleteness letter earlier this week. The submissions I received are formatted oddly, very similar to that newspaper publication, where words were misspelled and unique characters were in the middle of words. I've attached the submittals I received to this email for you to see. I'm not sure if this was a formatting error or something else, but I can't review this submittal in its current state. Could you please provide me updated forms with correct formatting?

Thanks,

Joel Renfro
