Nikie,

Hope all is well, I have attached a couple pictures of the site maintenance cleanup to this email. I have made some pretty large strides in getting all of the trash, cars, scrap, etc, there's still a few trucks and trailers if value from the previous operation that I have been working on organizing to sell and/or put in upcoming auctions to get rid of. I hauled out several dumpsters of anything not of value including the large pile of old tires that was sitting on the edge of the property. I also had a company shortly after the inspection come out and spray for weeds, and i also have been spot spraying throughout the summer to keep them in control.

I brought out a loader and a dozer to the site to continue to spread topsoil over the areas that didn't get any before. I intend on also discing everything soon and possibly trying to plant winter wheat, I'm working with a farming friend on that to come up with something.

Is there a different way I need to submit this besides this email?

Also, I've been extremely busy with this and my regular work that I spaced out fixing the map from your previous email. I will make sure to get that done as well.

Thanks!
