Hi Dustin, looks like I made a mistake in the spelling of your name....being a Giovanniello you would think I would pay more attention! Thanks, Lisa

Dustin, these were taken today, Tuesday 7/17/2013, by a neighbor after large amounts of rain had fallen here in La Plata Canyon. Please note the berm size has already decreased and there are numerous runoff scars in the soft dirt. The side of the hill is also sloughing into the road as well as a hand dug trench to actually cause the run off to go over the sloughing embankment. It would be nice if someone from our local office could see this prior to the meeting tomorrow. Travel safely, sincerely Lisa Giovanniello
